OUR FUTURE OFFICIALS

ON THE opposite page will be found statements as to their aims and ideas by men who are seeking nominations for county offices. Study these articles carefully, for they were carefully prepared by the candidates themselves or their friends for careful consideration.

Judge for yourself the various aspirants for each nomination, and then vote for the man you consider best qualified. In doing so, you not only do your duty toward yourself, but also toward your party and Klamath county. If you believe that certain changes are necessary for better efficiency, vote for the man you believe will bring these changes about. If you are satisfied with the present officials, they can be counted upon to administer their duties as well hereafter as in their present term, and therefore they would be deserving of your support.

One more matter in this connection. Registration closes at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, to remain closed until after the primaries. If you are not registered, delay no longer; the books are kept open tonight and tomorrow night at the clerk's office for your benefit. Your opinions regarding county affairs are of little value if you do not take the trouble to qualify yourself to express these at the polls with your vote.

AERIAL UNPREPAREDNESS

HOW FAR this country is behind in the matter of preparedness in the matter of aviation cannot be better illustrated than by the plain truth that there is not a single government airplane equipped with a compass, a telescope or any other adequate means of guiding the course of the airship. Our navigators of aeroplanes have to take their chances and guess at their course.

Neither have we a single aeroplane fitted with guns or bomb-throwing apparatus. What a difference ahead.

Over in Europe today, Germany, England and France not only have their aeroplanes fitted with mechanism for determining their course, but also telescopes, and some of the new ones, have wireless apparatus.

We are in the primer class when it comes to aviation.

As far as equipment is concerned, we are trailing all of the great nations. A well equipped aviation corps would be of inestimable benefit in Mexico at the present time.

Scattered Shots

SHOULD THE United States go to the mat with Mexico, we'd buck up against a country better equipped with small arms, ammunition and artillery than is the entire United States army—and all of these guns that would be turned on us bear the mark, 'made in the U. S. A.'

IN SUMMING up his fire department yesterday, the mayor inadvertently forgot to mention himself and the five councilmen as members.

THE MUNICIPAL HIGHWAY to Shippington and Pelican City is a project of vital interest to Klamath Falls' future. Every property owner interested in the growth and welfare of the city should support this measure at the May election.

THOUGHTS OF Easter occupy many these days—not as to its significance to Christianity, but as to the new habiliments for the occasion.

HARDINGE SLATED TO SUCCEED SIR EDWARD GRAY, IT IS SAID

United Press Service
LONDON, April 14.—That Sir Edward Gray is to retire as English foreign minister when Lord Hardinge gives up the viceroyalty of India; and that Hardinge will become foreign minister is reported in diplomatic circles.

It had been previously supposed Lord Hardinge would succeed Lord Bertie as ambassador in Paris. As Sir Charles Hardinge, before his elevation to a peerage, the retiring viceroy had a long diplomatic career and before he went to India, was sometime under-secretary at the foreign office.

WONDERFUL EXPOSITION AT SAN DIEGO OPEN FOR SECOND YEAR

VIEW "SAN DIEGO" 1915

Not content with breaking all exposition records by remaining an entire year, San Diego's International enterprise has started on its second year, with March 18 as Dedication Day.

In the face of the world war and the Mexican complications, the United States government is participating in the San Diego exposition in far greater degree than ever in any international exposition. A thousand marines, a battalion of infantry, a troop of cavalry, three bands, 18,000 square feet of display, requiring three complete buildings, and the presence of the Pacific fleet in the bay below the exposition grounds, constitute the government's recognition.

The 1916 visitor can find in this charming wonderland—that did not lose by comparison with San Francisco's captivating exposition of 1915—every attraction of the old year and so many new features, including the participation of twenty nations, that it is a new corporation, and given a new name, "Panama California International Exposition."

An idea of the big things in store for visitors during the year was given on Dedication Day, March 18, when a dozen military aeroplanes paraded to the grounds and four world record holders alighted and were given exposition medals. Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane represented the government; the Spanish singers and dancers romped back for a year's engagement; half a dozen bands added their music to the tones of the world's greatest outdoor pipe organ; the first "Court of Leap Year" in the world was dedicated; "Miss San Diego—1916," a charming daughter of the Southland, made her bow to the public; governors and high officials of Western states were present and added their congratulations; outdoor dancing was enjoyed in the exposition plazas; and then thousands participated in the carnival night on the isthmus.

A fifty-mile automobile race, on a course wholly within the exposition grounds; a model aeroplane meet, open to all model aeroplanes; amateur athletic contests, including boxing, swimming, relay races, track and field events on the first few weeks of the exposition period; the greatest musical organizations of the country have been signed and the first of these concerts will be given by the Walter Damrosch Symphony Orchestra Easter Sunday. Tommasino's Royal Italian band is the exposition official band.

One of the most interesting innovations of the exposition will be the attention given to the automobile. A motor demonstration field has been built where every make of American automobile will be given an opportunity to demonstrate efficiency. There will be grade climbing contests, tugs of war, head-on collisions, slow races, assembling contests, and days given over to competition between cars of similar price, so that the automobile dealer, owner and prospective buyer will find every possible question answered by actual performance. The government will have officials present from various branches of the service to inspect motors for use in the United States aeroplanes and field equipment.

The Canadian exhibit, considered at the San Francisco exposition the most wonderful display ever assembled by any nation, is now at the San Diego exposition in a building given over entirely to its use. The French government's display, including the famous Napoleon relics; the Luxembourg art collection, valued at a million dollars; the $100,000 tapestries, and the wonderful fashion show of more than fifty beautiful models, is in the California building. Germany, Austria, Brazil, China, Japan, Pan-Pacific countries, Italy, Russia, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Spain, Portugal, Persia, India, etc., are participating in extensive manner—making it an international exposition in every phase.
